SANTILLI is a singer-songwriter and pop vocalist from the Philadelphia area. Her stage name is her last name, paying tribute to her late grandfather who played piano and sang for her when she was younger. Santilli sang her first words as a baby and hasn't stopped since.

HER TALENTS have not gone unnoticed in the local area. She's played in iconic Philadelphia venues including Milkboy, Bourbon & Branch, and World Cafe Live, among many others.

WAVES, the debut single from Santilli, is her first step to beginning her solo pop career. Symbolizing her route to freedom and feeling alive out at the beach, "Waves" is the perfect song to close out the summer. The booming instrumentation and captivating vocals are reminiscent of iconic female artists including Julia Michaels and Sara Bareilles.
